

*The relative size of countries by Gross Domestic Product.
World Development Report 2009*

Alongside the globe's wealth and technological advance is abject poverty. Despite desires and attempts to decrease poverty and inequality both stubbornly remain. The outbreak of Covid-19 and climate change are projected to push 100s of millions more into abject poverty. This course provides a comprehensive introduction to the politics of development, which concern constructing poverty, wealth, inequality, institutions and qualities of government capacity.

Can we make it a brighter future?

The Politics of Development

With Dr. Scott Feinstein

POL S 340
MWF 11:00-11:50
Fall 2021

NOT ALL COUNTRIES LEAD THE WORLD IN SOMETHING—SOMETIMES GOOD THINGS, SOMETIMES NOT SO GOOD THINGS, AND SOMETIMES FUNNY THINGS. THIS MAP SHOWS WHY EACH COUNTRY DOES BEST COMPARED TO ALL OTHER COUNTRIES. DATA SOURCES: HTTP://THE-DOGHOUSE-DIARIST.COM/MAPESTYRUP